EASTER SERVICE AT EAGLE ROCK

Another great sunrise Easter service will be held on the summit of the historic bird rock in Eagle Rock City this coming Easter morn. Ten thousand people attended last year, and more are expected this year. The foothill boulevard runs alongside the rock, thus giving the one going by auto a fine opportunity of reaching the service. The Los Angeles Railway will run a special 10-minute car service from all parts of the city and the jitney buses will help get people from the Eagle Rock and Glendale car lines.

A splendid program has been provided, including such noted musical stars as Mme. Constance Balfour, the soprano, and Harold Proctor, the tenor soloist at the Temple Baptist Church. The address will be by Rev. Herbert Booth Smith of the Los Angeles Immanuel Presbyterian church. A chorus of 100 voices will sing, and a ten-piece orchestra, made up of symphony players, will play the accompaniments and furnish some special numbers.

PUBLIC HEARINGS

IMPROVEMENT OF BROADWAY THURSDAY, GAS PROPOSITION FRIDAY NIGHT

The Board of Trustees is finding it hard to get nights enough in the week to provide for all the hearings on matters important to Glendale citizens, which seem to be necessary. It was expected that the concluding discussion of the proposition submitted by the Southern California Gas Company of a reduced rate instead of municipal ownership would take place at the regular meeting tonight (Thursday), but inasmuch as a hearing was set for tonight on the improvement of Broadway from Glendale avenue to the east city limits, the gas discussion had to be postponed until Friday evening, when there will be time for all arguments to be heard and when it is hoped that a large number of citizens will come out to participate in the consideration of this important issue.

The improvement of Broadway is also a matter of grave concern to citizens generally as well as to the residents on that thoroughfare, and it is hoped that the meeting tonight will be largely attended.

GLENDALE TITLES

JUDGE YORK HOLDS THEY ARE CLOUDED BY AMBIGUOUS
WORDING OF DEEDS

Judge John M. York has recently given an opinion on a technical point which concerns the titles to considerable amounts of property owned in this city and which is the outgrowth of the ambiguous wording of deeds given by the subdividers of tracts. City Clerk Sherer explains the matter thus:

"Judge York has called the attention of the Grand Jury to the fact that certain deeds issued by parties who have subdivided lands within comparatively recent years in which the grantors mention certain building restrictions, went further, in Judge York's opinion, than they had any right to do, the deed having a clause to this effect: 'That all the covenants, agreements and restrictions contained herein shall cease to be effective after the year 1925.' (The year may be 1935, but that is immaterial.)"

"This, in the judgment of Judge York, puts a cloud upon the title, though at the same time it is not likely that any court will consider that the property was not duly conveyed. Judge York holds that this merely constitutes a lease; but in most cases the grantors have expressed their willingness to give new deeds and make the matter clear, and Judge York in passing upon applications to go under the Torrens Land Act has cleared such property of all these restrictions by his action in the matter. In some cases the wording of the deeds is so peculiar that it is claimed the parties themselves who have purchased the land can make the title clear simply by violating the restrictions imposed by the deeds. It is merely a technical matter and is not likely to seriously affect titles."

SHAKESPEARIAN PROGRAM

The Shakespeare Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, of which Mrs. Chas. Temple is curator, has finally yielded to the pressing solicitation of friends and consented to repeat on Wednesday evening, March 27th, at the Masonic Temple, the elaborate program now in preparation for presentation before the club, Shakespeare Day, March 26th.

It is the wish of the section that full details of this event be withheld until after next Tuesday's meeting, limited to club members only, but the names of the ladies associated with Mrs. Temple as hostesses on that occasion are a full guarantee of its artistic success. These are as follows: Mesdames E. D. Yard, Menzo Williams, H. Lee Clotworthy, Joseph Renshaw, Jesse Josephs, W. E. Halstead, Gertrude Follansbee, L. N. Rudy, C. E. Norton, Edna Sawyer, Gladys Gibbs Sherman, Glenwood Jones, A. M. Hunt, Theodore F. Peirce, Geo. Squires, Geo. Reuter, and Miss May Hunt.

A formal English garden scene will furnish the setting for this unique entertainment, which will be preceded by a concert program by Mr. and Mrs. John Marquardt, eminent violin and harp virtuosos, who have recently come to Glendale to make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Marquardt will be assisted by Miss Gertrude Champlain at the piano.

Tickets for this event, which are 25 cents each, may be obtained from Mesdames Pulliam, Whitaker, Hunchberger, Packer, Chase, Ocker, and other club members, as well as at the Red Cross headquarters.

The Masonic Hall has been donated free of charge and citizens generally are co-operating to make this benefit a financial success.

FUNDAMENTAL QUERIES

BASIC PROBLEM OF WAR POINT-ED OUT BY GEORGE WHAR-TON JAMES

George Wharton James, noted California author and lecturer, who recently returned to Los Angeles after filling important lecture engagements in San Francisco and the Bay cities, is a guest at the Glendale Sanitarium, where he is recuperating from a severe cold. Glendale is to him an old acquaintance. He remembers when the Glendale Sanitarium building was constructed and even before that when there was no Glendale. While he has not kept tab on Glendale methods of development, he likes the appearance of the city very much and thinks the results achieved are highly creditable.

Mr. James is now the literary editor of the Oakland Tribune, one of the leading California papers. The Sunday issue, like the New York Times, has a supplement devoted to literature, art and the drama, and Mr. James is the editor of that department. He is also writing a page once a week which is devoted entirely to California literature.

In addition to this regular work he is preparing the third volume of his "See America First" series, which will deal with New Mexico, and which will be a large and handsomely illustrated work.

By way of variety, and as a sort of side line, he is getting out a Dramatic Reader to take the place of the well-known "Cummock Reader." The major part of the selections will be the work of western writers, which he considers quite equal to the product of their eastern brothers in the craft for the purposes of dramatic art.

He is very enthusiastic about the status of California writers as fixed by our late lamented Frank Norris and Jack London and by the virile Carl Ackerman, Wallace and Will Irwin and Peter Kyne. It seems to be his theory that art production is more original, more spontaneous and vigorous under western skies than in the more circumscribed environments of the congested east.

When war books were touched upon he at once referred to Gertrude Atherton's "White Morning," which he pronounced "a wonderful book with a double purpose."

"In the first place," said he, "Mrs. Atherton knows Germany thoroughly as few Americans do. For twenty years she has been spending part of the year there. She contends there has been an undercurrent of thought developing among German women the past few years that may make possible a revolution originated and controlled entirely by German women, which would put a stop to the war. That is the burden of her book. She shows that it is perfectly possible, and that the possibility may develop into an actuality. When people have declared that the printing of the story would warn Germany and therefore render the revolution impossible, she replied that (Continued on Page 3)

LIKES BALLOON CORPS

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lawson of 246 North Kenwood have had an interesting letter from their son, Lieut. Lawrence Lawson, who is in the balloon corps and now stationed at Waco, Texas, where he has been since March 5th. He writes:

"I never knew until now the great opportunities there were in our branch of the service and I would advise any young Glendale fellow who could qualify to choose this service. I hope there will be some of the Glendale boys who will take this up." Lawrence is working hard for promotion to be an Acting Captain and expects to be sent across the water some time this spring. He is anxious to go and as he passed very high, it is altogether probable that will be his next change. He has written that some of his classmates are being sent to Arcadia to serve as instructors in the Aviation Training School there.

FRANCY BOYS SEND GREETINGS

In ordering the Glendale Evening News sent to his address at Camp Lewis, Harry Francy says: "Tell all our friends in Glendale that the Francy boys send greetings from Lewis and that we are hale and hearty and feel like a 'million dollars.' We have been having splendid weather for a week or so, but today the spell was broken and it is raining. There is some talk of increasing the capacity of Camp Lewis to accommodate 100,000 men, but as yet there is nothing definite or official. We expect some 10,000 men up here starting the 29th and continuing for five days." Harry's address is Camp Lewis, Wash, care of Field Auditor.

CASUALTY LIST PROTEST

SENATOR MCKENZIE PLEADS
FOR ADDRESSES WITH NAMES
ON CASUALTY LISTS

Representative John C. McKenzie of Illinois has urged in the House of Representatives at Washington that the War Department modify its recent order regarding casualty lists of American soldiers in France by adding to the announcement of the name of the soldier killed, wounded or missing, the place of residence given in the War Department records. He represents the Congressional District of Northern Illinois and has many constituents who will indorse his stand on the matter. He maintained that the addition of the address would furnish no information of value to the enemy and would relieve the minds of relatives of soldiers in Europe.

To illustrate his point he read a telegram of inquiry he had received from Sterling, Illinois, relating to a soldier named Moore who had been reported wounded. The man wounded was Walter E. Moore. In the army was a young man named Walter V. Moore who went from Sterling, Ill.

Reporting his action in the matter, the Congressman said:

"On investigation I found that the man named Moore who was reported wounded enlisted in Montana; yet the father and mother of the young man who came from Sterling, Illinois, when they saw the name in the list of wounded, in the Chicago newspapers, immediately thought it was their son."

"I can not see that it would do any harm to give the place of residence in the casualty lists without giving the regiment or company or even the division to which the soldier belonged."

HONOR MR. AND MRS. CLENDENIN

Tuesday evening, March 19th, a very congenial company gathered at the home of Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Field to honor Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clendenin. Mr. Field has been acting teacher for Mr. Clendenin's Sunday School class while he was absent in the East on business.

The members of the class were early in gathering, while the hour set for Mr. Clendenin to meet his pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds, was eight o'clock. It was a surprise to Mr. Clendenin when he was admitted to see such a large number of friends to greet him. A jolly evening was spent in games and conversation. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the evening. The committee in charge were Mrs. M. L. Sloan and Mrs. R. A. Peterson, who with Miss Mattley and Miss Field assisted in serving.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, MARCH 21, 1918

A NATIONAL ANTHEM

Ever and anon a member of Congress gets the floor and gravely moves that the "Star-Spangled Banner" be declared the official "National Anthem." and yet we go plugging along without putting the Congressional stamp on that song, for it is not in the power of Congress to do so, save in a perfunctory, formal way. No one can object to the music score, which is one of the grandest ever written, but the words defiant and triumphant over an enemy with which we were in actual war at the time they were written, are sadly out of joint with the situation of today. What a change since Key's day! On the other side of the big pond American soldiers are fighting side by side with the soldiers Key so gallantly defied in the words of his song. This very incongruity, misfit as it were, rules out Key's song as a national expression. A national anthem must be of a character to be sung anywhere, by anybody, any time, and while Key's song was timely and grand for the time he put it out, it will not, nor can it ever, be made the national anthem for the reasons here adduced, to which may be added the additional one that the music is too difficult for any but well-cultivated solo voices, ruling out the chorus masses. And so it is that the National Anthem is yet to be written.

Every one will agree that a National Anthem should be as flexible as was "Yankee Doodle" in days of the Revolution. "Just the song that Yankee boys delight in. 'Tis good to fiddle, whistle, sing, and just the tune for fightin'!" But you are beat at the start if you try to march to the "Star-Spangled Banner" until some music master has so filled the score with "accidentals" and "ties" to make it fit your "hayfoot, strawfoot" step that Key himself would be greatly bothered to pull from the mass the notes of the original score. Lest what I am here saying be construed by any into a belittling of Key's grand work, I wish again to record my admiration for Key and his song. Each is immortal while love of country and "Old Glory" has a home in patriotic hearts. It was timely when written, but it doesn't fit today.

Scarce a paper or magazine of character in the country but has called attention to this incongruity, this misfit, of forcing us to set up "a man of straw" to represent a country and people (a people largely a large part of ourselves), one in faith, in language, in history, in hope, and notably one to day as side by side they battle for world-wide democracy beneath the folds of Old Glory. Say, can you think about organizing an old-style Fourth of July and fire at the above-mentioned man of straw the ordinary program? The Fourth is nearing us. Have you selected your orator to "twist the Lion's tail"? Have you picked out your able voiced young attorney to read the Declaration of Independence, that fierce, denunciatory indictment of the greatest criminal of the day? Nay, nay, you cannot get a reader for that purpose without giving him liberty to substitute the Kaiser for King George III. Do this and proceed with the reading.

This anxiety to secure a truly national anthem is widespread and has existed for years. Nearly every city of note above mediocrity in music or scholarship has felt the want and not a few sought to meet it. Possibly the most representative type of this class of officials desiring better things in the anthem, Hon. J. B. McPatrick, who a few years ago while president of the Chicago School Board of Education, not only felt the need but sought to meet it. In his argument he used the following forcible language:

"I have long felt that the present national airs lack universal reception, are unsingable by large groups of people and are 'national' in theory and name rather than in practical usage."

This he uses as a base on which to erect the needed anthem, and for this his own words are so far superior to any I could use that I quote him further:

"What we need is to teach the glorious principles for which the United States stands. We need something to interest the children, and impress on their receptive minds the glorious blessings of liberty that are found nowhere except under the folds of the Stars and Stripes."

"The children of today will be the men and women of tomorrow, and the things that they learn now will not be forgotten when they reach the age of maturity."

"Music is one of the easiest, if not the easiest, things to keep in the memory. The words and music of some song will linger in the heart long after the other memories of the years have fled. We should teach the children patriotism, and to implant all the meanings of that wonderful word in their young minds, some song should be taught them that would appeal to their hearts. They should learn to sing this song with all the devotion that they have in their being. It should go hand in hand with the raising and drawing down of the Flag. It should be the national anthem of the country. It should have the same settled place in the minds of the people as the capitol at Washington, and should be the opening song of every school in the United States or wherever the Flag floats. It should be a song that touches the chords of the heart, and which does not embody the idea of war alone, but should advocate the idea of peace as the more fitting ideal of the American people. We have no song that reaches the standard that is desired, or expresses the spirit of the republic, and this epoch of the history of the country is a good time to get a national anthem."

The able article from which I have so generously quoted was an earnest effort to reach through the public school the anthem so much desired. A mass of manuscript was collected and much careful work done by an able committee, but no definite or final conclusion was arrived at.

Not Only the Schools

but nearly every magazine and paper in the country noticed the misfit of the "Star Spangled Banner" as a national anthem, and many able poems have been offered. "Collier's" comments on the incongruous "Star Spangled Banner," especially its unsingable nature as a chorus, and presents the "Hymn of Freedom," by Mrs. Perry King, as worthy of attention. And it is a fine poem, full of patriotism, kind, happy expression, certainly readable and singable.

Great military movements have ever been accompanied by the poets to immortalize in song the great achievements on land or sea, but at this time there seems to be an unusual number of song writers and all busy, as the columns of our papers and magazines amply attest. Equally worthy of remark is the fact that the songs and verses are of a high type of ability, in composition and sentiment, the sober, serious class far outnumbering the frivolous and doggerel style. As war times greatly increase the number of readers for this class of verse, the higher range of the work of the song writers is creditable alike to writers and readers. Should this era of verse writing continue, at the close of the war it would not be difficult to obtain a composition broad and comprehensive enough in every particular to fill the requirements of a National Anthem.

STARS THAT PASS IN THE NIGHT

Mary has a little job—
The Movies;
And everything that Mary does—Approved is;
Imitators she has many—
Millions!
Who think they're in her class—
Silly ones!
They all can act like her—
Why not?
But the public smiling say:
"What rot!"
The friends our Mary has—
Are legion;
And the money she makes—
"Unbelievin'";
But if Mary is wise she'll
save it,
For the public's forgetful that—
gave it;
And the job she's star in—
by right,
Will pass to another—
over night;
For all jobs are alike—
they're fickle;
E'en a job built up—
nickel by nickel.

Ladies of the Christian Church are sewing today (Thursday) at the church bungalow, for the Red Cross.

Friends of little Merna and Merle Kahler have received word that they are making a tremendous hit on the stage at Seattle, but that they are looking forward to getting home to Glendale.

Girls of the Round Table were entertained Wednesday evening by Miss Blanche Shea at her home on Brand boulevard. No special program was provided but a delightful social evening was enjoyed.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Loyal Women's Bible Class of the Central Christian Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Hettie Graham, 1437 Hawthorne street, Friday at 2 o'clock. All ladies of the church are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. James W. Begg of 1535 Vine street entertained at a prettily appointed luncheon on Wednesday, Mrs.
J. P. Hilbert and Mrs. Minette Sherman. Mrs. Hilbert is leaving Monday for Santa Maria, where Mr. Hilbert has been for the past month, and where he has just secured a beautiful home in a fine location.

First Lieutenant J. E. Rockhold of this city, formerly county surveyor of Los Angeles county, and now on active duty with the 117th Engineers,
American expeditionary force in France, has written to Pres. H. Z.
Osborne, Jr., of the Engineers and Architects Association, describing his experiences and the conditions in that portion of France in which he is stationed.

Mrs. J. F. Hearnshaw of 1458 Lomita avenue has been entertaining
Miss May Kent, a professional nurse
from Chicago, who has recently tendered her services to the government,
believing it to be her patriotic duty because of the great need. She does not know just when she will be called but expects the summons to come about the middle of next week. She is a graduate of the Mercy Hospital
of Chicago, and is a fine nurse.

Two auto loads of Glendale people will motor to Pomona College to enjoy the musical comedy to be given there this (Thursday) evening, in which Miss Evangeline Hunchberger of this city will be a soloist. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hunchberger, their daughter Virginia and Miss Wauwita Emery will fill one machine, and Miss Emery will remain to be the guest of Evangeline over Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Smith and a party of friends will also drive to Pomona.

Mrs. Perry E. Maxwell of 203 N.
Kenwood street entertained with a four-course luncheon Tuesday at which covers were laid for five. Beautiful pink carnations centered the table which was exceedingly pretty in all its appointments. Guests were:
Mrs. Sam Neighbors, Mrs. Bessie G.
McKee, Mrs. H. A. Streight, Mrs. P.
J. Schwab. The ladies remained for the afternoon and were entertained with music, at the same time busying
their fingers with knitting and sewing.

Knights Templar of Glendale and visitors will enjoy a 6:30 dinner followed by an entertainment next Monday night, March 25th. The amusements will be entirely in the charge of the wives of Knights. As many invitations have been sent out, a large attendance is expected. Visiting Knights and their ladies are also invited to join in the fun. Knights are asked to leave their names for dinner reservations with David Crofton, Jr., or Thomas B. Ogg not later than Friday afternoon.

An old-fashioned box supper will be given at the First M. E. Church of Glendale Friday evening, March 22nd. Each lady will be expected to bring a box containing enough super for two. The boxes will be auctioned off at 6:30 o'clock. Hot coffee will be served free. A fine program has been arranged for an evening's entertainment to follow the supper. This affair will be given under the auspices of the "month of April ladies" of the church. All are invited to come and enjoy a good supper and a delightful evening. 169t1

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Humphrey, who were married recently at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs.
H. T. Anderson, 203 Orange street, and who went to Camp Baldy to spend their honeymoon, were summoned from there Friday evening with the message that Mr. Humphrey was expected to be in Yuma Monday to take charge of a branch lumber business operated by the firm by whom he is employed. It was quite a surprise to the young people, as they had expected to reside in Long Beach, but it was not unwelcome, as it is a promotion for Mr. Humphrey.
Members of the Lucky Thirteen Club, to which Mrs. Humphrey belongs, are mourning over this, the first real break in their ranks, as all the "other married girls" have continued to live here.

Red Cross headquarters requests
the Evening News to state that on account of so few registering, the rooms will not be open this (Thursday) evening.

Mrs. Pearl Keller and her pupils are very busy getting ready for their third annual Children's Society Vaudeville, which will be given in June at the Palace Grand Theatre, this city. More than 125 children are to take part and it will be produced on a more elaborate scale than ever before.

E. D. Yard of 127 North Maryland avenue, who has been suffering for about two weeks with an injured ankle which he supposed had been sprained, had an X-ray taken of the foot yesterday and learned that he had a fracture of the ankle bone. It has been placed in a plaster cast and he will not be able to walk upon it for several weeks but expects to get around on crutches and look after his contracting business. The injury was occasioned by a fall when a board on which he was standing broke and let him down about four feet onto uneven ground.

The Coffee King and the Coffee
Queen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Booth, are now established in their new commercial throne at 906 Broadway, where their show windows have been arranged in a truly royal manner.
The new store has given them such fine facilities for the display of their excellent stock that they are pushing the business with fresh enthusiasm and interest and are anticipating great prosperity. Mr. Booth specializes in window decoration and when connected with the United Cigar Companies, which have 900 stores
distributed over the United States,
his window won their first prize,
which was some distinction. He believes in advertising of all sorts, as do most successful business men, and is a liberal patron of the newspapers.

"THE CALIFORNIANS"

(By "Church, of Glendale," Ex-Secretary Chamber of Commerce)
Since the birth of "The Golden Baby," September 9, 1850, there has been need for such a State-wide, mutual association as "The Californians" to promote the common interests of all our people, men, women and children.

"The Californians" is non-partisan, non-sectarian. It is "non-sectional-within-the-State." It also is patriotic and not-for-profit.

In each county or city there may be several auxiliary associations, not bound to co-operate beyond essentials stated in the first issue of "The Californians," a periodical to be published as the Association organ.

There will be annual conventions to elect the President-General with his Lieutenants, and do other things
for the common weal.

The Californians will take "straw vote" on questions of State-wide interest. The first may be: "Shall our great Commonwealth be severed in twain? Or remain 'California—
the Queen of the Golden West—the Empire State of the Pacific'?"

Till further notice, Walt Le Noir
Church, of Glendale Chapter No. 1, will be State Secretary and Organizer, also Editor of "The Californians." He will make an automobile tour of the State. Your suggestions would be appreciated.

Note: Any publicity given this would be pro bono publico.

the German masculine mind is so obessed with the conviction of its superlative superiority and with its complete knowledge of the mental processes of its women, that the possibility of germinating such an idea
would be to them incredible."

Changes in governmental powers and in human relationships as the result of the war have occupied Mr.
James' thoughts as they have the minds of most thinking people. Referring to the concentration of power
in our own government, he said:

"Yes, it seems like dictatorship,
but war can not be carried on successfully except by a dictator. Mr.
Wilson's idea is all right. France has come to it, England has come to
it. All those countries have a limited war board with almost absolute powers. Instead of letting any nation run its own affairs, the war council has co-ordinated all the attacks and all the forces are working as one, a small council directing it all.

"I do not think the war will end for a while. If the Germans keep their foothold in Russia and directly or indirectly control the grain fields
that reach from Odessa in the south to Moscow in the north, and have either enforced or purchased Russian labor, they will have food supplies to keep them going for ten years or even longer, and food is the thing they need.

"In human relationships there are going to be great problems to be worked out. Marital relations are going to be changed. Germany has compelled its women to become the mothers of children whether they wanted to or not. In France thousands of women have been compelled to bear children to German fathers.

When those children come are they to be regarded as illegitimate? In England there are thousands upon thousands of unmarried mothers as a result of the war. Are their offspring to be branded as illegitimate?
That is one little phase of this war question. How is it going to be answered? If we accept the old theology of the churches and the conventional views of parenthood, the child should be debarred from participation in the home life of both father and mother. It is hardly fair to refer to the Spartan state for comparison because while it encouraged maternity, the woman was given absolute freedom to choose who should be the father of her child, and the child was cared for by the State when it was considered advisable. Here we have motherhood forced upon women. In the war brides of England and France we have accidental and unexpected maternity, or at any rate unauthorized maternity. How are we going to treat it?"

CHEAPER AND BETTER TO SEND YOUR LINEN TO A POWER PLANT LAUNDRY

The manufacturers of domestic washing machines are selling hundreds of thousands of those machines to people of very limited income. Women are paying weekly installments of $2 per week and even more for washing machines and at the same time they are paying $2 a day with carfare and meals to a washerwoman. Besides this, the thrifty housewife spends from 25 to 50
cents for incidental items such as soap, bluing, gas or coal, electricity and such things. The washing machine installments are an expense and not an investment, because a light domestic machine will not last more than two years over which the installments are spread.—Laundry

Board of Trustees for La Canada School District.
March 18, 1918.

The Rev. E. H. Brooks of La Canada, who was elected to the presidency of the Foothill District Federation, in his absence, at the last regular meeting, has positively declined to serve in that position. He so notified those who went to an adjourned meeting in La Crescenta. But as there seems to be some misunderstanding, this notice is hereby given.

P. H. JOHNSON,
Retiring Secretary.

Our new motion picture machine is a dandy, one of the finest. Technically speaking it is a Powers 6A, with a 110-volt transformer and a 9 1/2 x 13 nitro-silver screen. This is furnished by the Pacific Amusement Co. of Los Angeles, being equipped both for films and slides. When the pursuit of machines had been carried on for some time, the above was decided upon after due consideration of the merits of this one and that one. This type of machine is approved by the director of visual education of the County Superintendent's office as best suited for our use. The machine will be installed without delay and we hope an early date will be set when it will first be used. Carbon is used for lighting. The new incandescent lighting after thorough investigation by the Board was found impractical for the throw in the school auditorium.

At the dedication of the Service Flag, which occurs at the Improvement meeting March 30, Dr. Scott and the Rev. E. H. Brooks are scheduled for short speeches and the Junior Red Cross will provide a pleasing number.

Harlan Durand, an uncle of Sam and Harlan Durand, who has been at the naval training camp at San Pedro, started east suddenly on Monday last. It is supposed he will go to Key West or New York.

Ralph Cornwell has joined the non-flying squad of the Aviation Corps.

John Welty is working in the ship yard at San Pedro.

Fitch Jewett, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Jewett, left San Francisco, where he has been stationed for some time, by train for an Atlantic port.

Married, at Los Angeles, Saturday, March 16, Helen N. Cooper and Marion Lea. San Pedro is the present address of Mr. and Mrs. Lea. Mrs. Lea will surely be greatly missed in La Canada, at home, in church, at the library and among her numerous friends with whom she is so popular.

The body of Miss Winona C. Martin, the first American woman killed in the war, lies in the American church at Paris, a mute protest against Germany's warfare. Women will do all they can to end the war.

Ralph Sorin has gone to training at the naval camp at San Pedro.

It is thought and said that little Mary Elizabeth Hayman will run her brother Ben a strong second for first place.

Ohio people will call to mind that Mrs. Garfield, whose funeral occurred Sunday afternoon at South Pasadena, was the wife of James Abram Garfield of Mentor, Ohio, who at one time was President of the United States. After Mr. Garfield's sudden death Mrs. Garfield came west and made her home till her demise in South Pasadena. Her burial will be at Lake View Cemetery, Cleveland.

The regular monthly meeting of La Canada Thursday Club was held on Thursday afternoon, March 14, at the home of Mrs. Maynard on Burr avenue. Following a response of the members to the roll call with interesting bits of information on the Indian city Jaipore, Mrs. Nyby read of paper on "Birds of India," which brought out a picturesque side of Indian life hitherto unknown. The Club's word critic, Mrs. Edward Hammond Brooks, corrected previously mispronounced words, a most important part of the intellectual growth that has been the motif of the Thursday Club from the time of its inception. The refreshments which followed the close of the program were a tribute to the culinary art of the hostess, Mrs. Maynard. Among those present were Mesdames Seright, Selleck, Scott, Schieffelin, Holden, Horn, McDonald, Murray, Maynard, Pate, Penfield, Johnson, A. C. Knight, Nyby, Brooks, Waterman, and the Misses Young and Selleck.

March 23 is the date of Mrs. Myron T. Hunt's talk on vital topics of the times. Mrs. Max Green and Miss Lulu Lanterman will entertain by readings and singing. A program featuring such ability in all parts should fill the hall. No charge will be made for refreshments. Some of the Valley people have heard Mrs. Hunt talk and were much pleased with her earnestness and ability. The latter has been shown by the successful way she has managed the Navy League since its formation.

Strawberry Peak was a delight to tired eyes and a rest for troubled hearts last Tuesday when its white mantle of snow was at its best. The misty clouds played around it, partially enfolding it, while the setting sun glorified all.

John Masefield was much enjoyed on Thursday evening of last week, when he entertained the public at Pasadena. His lecture dealt with the questions of the day, experience at the front, in trenches and various places. Before closing he delighted the audience by reading six of his beautiful poems. Mrs. Fenton Knight drove over, taking with her Mrs. Scott, Miss Selleck and Mrs. Murray.

The schools are soon to have a player piano, an Aeolian.

In a little Pacific port an ocean-going concrete ship was launched with the name of Faith on her bow on March 14.

The salvage department of Los Angeles are in receipt of a telegram from New York requesting photographs and data concerning this branch of work. The Los Angeles Red Cross, being the pioneer in the salvage work, is daily showered with like requests from eastern cities.

April 1 will soon be here and that income tax return must be filed before that date. "Blanks can be had from any bank or postoffice. Go, send or write for one at once or ask your mail man for a copy."

TUJUNGA

The Rev. E. H. Brooks of La Canada, who was elected to the presidency of the Foothill District Federation, in his absence, at the last regular meeting, has positively declined to serve in that position. He so notified those who went to an adjourned meeting in La Crescenta. But as there seems to be some misunderstanding, this notice is hereby given.

P. H. JOHNSON,
Retiring Secretary.

The Woman's Club held its regular meeting on Thursday, March 14, with the popular prevailing topic of how to eat both economically and patriotically, as well as the current events of the day. Mrs. Lunaberry having charge. As there was not a quorum, the subject was put over until the next meeting, March 28th, when it is hoped there will be a full attendance.

John Steen was a caller in Tujunga on Saturday. Also Mr. Green of Glendale and Viola and Eugene Smith of Los Angeles.

Miss Anna Peck, who has occupied the house owned by Mrs. Milly of Los Angeles for the past four years, left last Friday for San Diego and will make her home there. We shall surely miss her from our midst, but our loss is San Diego's gain. She has promised to write Mr. Parcher so that we may know how she likes her new home.

The home of Fred Johnson on Pine street was sold this week to James Leckie, who has been occupying it for the past five months and is pleased with our town. The sale was made through Dean & Co.

The Red Cross activities still continue without abatement. Last week thirty-five ladies and eight machines were kept busy from eight until five o'clock making garments for the hospital use. The Sunland ladies were invited to attend our next meeting and help in the work. The Red Cross Auxiliary now numbers 126 and the service stars on our flag will be increased to 20. Let every lady in the colony come out to these meetings. Bring lunch and coffee will be served free. Five new knitters were added to the squad this week, making in all 43 workers. The squad sent in for the week four sweaters, ten trench caps, four helmets, two wristlets and five pairs of socks.

Don't fail to register so you can vote at the school election which occurs on the 29th of March. Dr. Kearney is the present incumbent whose term expires.

Mrs. Whitman of Pine street spent the week-end at San Pedro with her husband and niece, Mrs. Jack London.

Mr. and Mrs. Sease of Whittier called on Mr. Dean on Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Smith who formerly lived on Walnut drive were also Sunday visitors, out to look over the new highway.

TIRE CONSERVATION

CODE FOR TIRE USERS WILL HELP YOU GET THE MOST
FROM YOUR TIRES

The following article under the above heading, published by one of the great tire manufacturers, has been handed us by the Monarch Company as worthy of being read and heeded by all auto owners irrespective of the make of tires they may be using.

It is another effort toward conservation and the field is indeed large.

If ever there was a time that an automobile tire should be made to yield up the last atom of its usefulness, that time is with us now.

Every dollar saved today through the more careful use of articles already manufactured, is a dollar added to the resources of the nation.

An astonishing number of such dollars might be saved and the satisfaction of tire-users proportionately increased, if the tires now in use were given proper care.

The plain fact is, that for every two tires which deliver their full capacity in the owner's service at present, one tire is prematurely ruined by abuse and neglect.

Proper tire care involves a somewhat elaborate program, but for everyone concerned it is a program well worth carrying out.

For the tire-user it means immensely greater returns from his investment; for the tire-maker it means a heightened respect for his product.

The fallacy once so popular that tire-makers want their product to wear out quickly, has finally been quashed by their efforts to prevent this very thing.

Tire-makers know, just as well as any other business men, that their success will be measured by their customers' satisfaction.

We have from time to time issued tire conservation bulletins, covering the entire subject of proper tire care. These are especially appropriate just at this time, and we shall be glad to send copies of them to any tire-user upon request.

We have found in the past, however, that a great many car-owners are disinclined to care for their tires themselves, whether from lack of time or for some other reason.

It was largely to meet this condition and to cancel its detriment that the Goodyear Service Station plan was launched.

Throughout America, in cities, towns and hamlets, we have established Goodyear Service Station Dealers to the number of 20,000.

The aim of these dealers is identical with our own, to increase the mileage delivered by Goodyear Tires that users may get out of them the last bit of good.

These men will help you care for your tires—help you make them last longer; it is part of their policy of giving maximum value at minimum cost.

We urge you to profit by the service they stand so willing to give—now, above all times, to get the most from your tires.

C. H. Clark is up from Glendale for a few days.

Another rain has come, and although we do not need it at present, still we are glad to get it. We have now some 23 inches for the season and some snow on the peaks of Mount Elsie.

TRACTORS AND FOOD PRODUCTION

Architect Harrison Albright of Los Angeles has sent a telegram to President Wilson urging the purchase by the government of tractors to be sold to the farmers at cost as one of the most certain methods of stimulating food production. Mr. Albright says in his telegram:

"Everywhere government posters say 'food will win the war,' yet everywhere the want of preparation to raise crops and conserve food is apparent. Today's papers say Henry Ford will sell the Canadian government 1000 tractors, and it, in turn, will sell the same to the farmers at cost. European governments are purchasing Ford tractors in great quantities, yet none are available for American use. If half of the reported number were sent to California, none would be needed abroad, for, with proper co-operation of tractors, men and seed, California alone could provide sufficient food for all citizens and armies fighting with America."

NO NEED FOR ATTORNEYS

The Secretary of the Treasury has announced that neither the soldiers, sailors, nor their dependents or any beneficiaries under the soldier and sailor insurance law need employ attorneys or claim agents to collect the insurance; that the employment of such intermediaries is unnecessary and inadvisable and a needless expense.

The procedure for the presentation and collection of insurance claims is very simple and the proper blanks can be secured from the Bureau of War-Risk Insurance in Washington. The name of the person in the service who was killed or injured and the relationship which he bore to the person making the claim should be given. If further information or assistance is required by the claimant the Bureau of War-Risk Insurance will gladly furnish it.

Circulars have been sent out by claim agents and attorneys offering to assist persons entitled to the benefits of this insurance in collecting their claims. The "pension sharks," who once thrived and fattened under our pension laws, are still a rank memory in this country.

It was hoped that when they were legislated out of existence we would never see their like again. But their successors seem to survive, and the action of Secretary McAdoo in giving prompt warning against these would-be profiteers under the insurance law will be commended by all.

UNITED STATES BOND FLUCTUATIONS

Some interesting data as to the changes in quotations for the United States Government bonds in the last year of the Civil War and the later years are presented in the Wall Street Journal. In the later part of 1864 these bonds all sold at high quotations for the year, "evidently discounting peace." The 5 per cent bonds reached 110 in December, but in June of the following year after the cessation of hostilities, receded to 102 1/2. Bankers are said now to believe, "in view of the prosperous condition of the country and its strong financial position among nations," that after the present war our government bonds will have a sharp advance and sell considerably above par as they did before the present war.

CUTTING HIM SHORT

"You are accused of driving a motor truck while intoxicated."
"Your honor, I have an excuse."
"Let's hear it."
"The boss put alcohol in the radiator this morning to keep it from freezing. The fumes—"
"Sixty days," said the judge.—Louisville Courier-Journal.
